Democrats Nab

Democrat Frank F. Fasi 83,593 to 75,681. In the race for a Senate seat, Democrat Oren E. Long received 80,879 votes to 76,159 for Republican Wilfred C. Tsukiyama.

Democrat Daniel K. Inouye swamped Republican Charles K. Silva 102,343 to 49,304 in the race for the lone House seat.

Quinn's GOP running mate, Hawaii-born James K. Keoloha, easily defeated Japanese-American Mitsuyuki Kido 85,593 to 73,753 for the lieutenant governorship.

Fong, son of a poor Chinese farmer, and Inouye, Japanese-American World War II hero, will be the first legislators of Chinese and Japanese ancestry to serve in Congress.

Fong was the only Republican supported by Harry Bridge's International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. The rest of the union's endorsement went to Democrats. The union claims 24,000 sugar, pineapple, and dock workers in Hawaii.

By winning three of the five top offices in the 30th state's first election Tuesday, Republicans made a surprise showing.

Democrats had been favored on the strength of a strong primary election showing a month ago and their successive victories in every Hawaii territorial election since 1954.

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
HONOLULU (AP)—A Democrat won Hawaii's lone seat in the U.S. House of Representatives today, while a Republican seized a narrow lead for governor in the 50th state's initial election.

After trailing for hours, William F. Quinn, a Republican serving as appointed governor, moved ahead of Democrat John A. Burns in a narrow race.

While these two Irishmen slugged it out, the islands' multi-racial citizens elected to the House Democrat Daniel K. Inouye, 44-year-old lawyer who will be the first person of Japanese ancestry to serve in Congress.

A Republican of Chinese descent and a Democrat of many years political experience in the islands held the leads for the two Senate seats.

The election Tuesday brought a record turnout approaching 170,000 of Hawaii's 183,000 registered voters—93 per cent of those eligible. Unofficial returns from 187 of 240 precincts gave this picture:

DOROTHY DIX

Her Old-Age Security
Stays Locked in Bank

Dear Dorothy Dix: Two years ago I remarried after being a widow for four years. Unfortunately, my husband turned out to be a very dishonest man who won't make the slightest attempt to adjust. I love him, certainly don't want to leave him, but feel our marriage should be on a 50-50 basis. His chief gripe is that I won't turn over to him the $11,000 left by my first husband. I feel we need this money in case anything happens. My husband doesn't have a cent of insurance and nothing saved for a rainy day. He's 65, I'm 61. He has done a complete right-about-face since our marriage. What can I do?—P.K.

Dear P.K.: Hang on to your money. Apprehension about the future is well justified. According to statistics, you will be a widow for some years, during which time money will be your best friend. If your husband doesn't trust you to spend the money in the best interest of you both, how can you trust him? He should be happy that you can face the future without financial worries. The fact that he has reached 65 without insurance or savings indicates that he's not too good at handling his own affairs. Your $11,000 wouldn't have much future in his hands. Try to make him see that the bank account is for your mutual protection while you both live and insures security for your old age if you survive him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I often get together with the people next door for a social game of cards. We have fun together, except that the other lady doesn't like to lose. As soon as she gets a losing streak in one game, she suggests that we play something else.—Hope

Dear Hope: This gal needs a frank talking to. Tell her if she doesn't like to lose, you'll have to give up these social games thereby spoiling the fun for everyone. After all, you and your husband can watch TV, read or talk. When another couple adds nothing but disharmony to an evening that should be fun, they have gotta go.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I haven't been in this country very long and have difficulty adjusting to certain situations. For instance, I have a very nice neighbor with whom I have become quite friendly. I hear from other neighbors that she soon gets tired of her friends and that I shouldn't be surprised if she drops me one of these days. How do I react in a situation like this?—Honore

Dear Honore: I think your other neighbors must be pretty nice to give you this warning. Since you are prepared for it, it won't come as a shock. If your friend is capricious and changes toward you, you'll just have to get another friend somewhere else. Accept it as an experience that has taught you a bit more about people than you knew before. Don't be bitter and it won't hurt you.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

State Guard Team
in Pistol Matches

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—An Arkansas National Guard team is competing in the national pistol matches here for the first time in 20 years.

The matches opened today. On the Arkansas team are Maj. C. W. Hulen of Booneville, captain; Sgt. Calvin Tomberg, Sgt. Earl E. Montgomery and Sgt. Wilton E. Austin of North Little Rock; Sgt. Thomas E. Gillman of Hot Springs, and Sp. 5c Phillip Bailey of Booneville.

Nixon Takes on

The warmth and enthusiasm of his reception in this throbbing West Siberian metropolis thrilled Nixon, who told newsmen it was "by far the most outstanding we have seen" since arriving in the Soviet Union seven days ago.

The vice president talked his way into a look at the multimillion-dollar scientific research center which the Soviets are raising on the shores of the man-made Ob Sea near this industrial center.

Work was started early last year on the project, which is to house tens of thousands of scientists, students and their families by 1962.

Details of the center have been skimpy. Original plans called for 12 large research institutes devoted to mathematics and natural sciences with provision for expanding into other fields.

The arrival of the Nixon party in Novosibirsk touched off spontaneous outbursts of friendliness that astounded the Americans and kept Soviet security forces busy.

"I was afraid he (Nixon) was going to be hurt by a bear hug," said Georgi A. Zhukov, chairman of the Soviet Union Cultural Committee who is escorting the vice president. "But they were hugs of friendship."

Novosibirsk, a thriving city which has grown from 120,123 to 280,000 in population in 25 years, has often been called a closed city to foreigners.

But "they all knew we were here," Nixon said.

Few in the frontier city had ever seen an American. Thousands lined the streets to cheer the Nixon party and in their enthusiasm almost mobbed a husband of American newsmen traveling with the vice president.

Ike Declares Reception of Nixon Friendly

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the reception given Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Soviet Union is clear evidence of a friendly feeling by the Russian people for Americans.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that Nixon has every right to discuss with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a possible visit by the Premier to this country but has no authority to offer an outright invitation.

By indirect means, the President thus seemed to confirm reports that the vice president had broached the subject of an American visit to the Soviet leader.

Eisenhower said Nixon had acquitted himself splendidly and in a manner fitting his high office during his Soviet travels and his encounters with Khrushchev.

Asked whether the visit has served to ease cold war tensions, the President said that only time can tell.

Eisenhower also touched on these other topics in the news conference:

STEEL—He said that the U.S. Steel Corp.'s profits, as reported Tuesday night, have no bearing on whether the government should intervene in behalf of a wage increase for the 500,000 striking steelworkers.

One company's earnings in the first half of the year were at record heights. The union contends the earnings statement shows wages can be increased.

Eisenhower said the government cannot talk about steel wages or profits without appearing to favor one side or the other, and if it does it is in trouble.

Eisenhower repeated his demand for a settlement that will not create or incite inflation.

GENEVA—The President asserted there still is no progress at the foreign ministers' conference which would justify the hold-

Woods Searched for Missing Plane

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Civil Air Patrol search planes cruised over river bottoms near Clarksville in northwest Arkansas today in a hunt for a light plane missing since Monday.

The green-and-white Piper aircraft, piloted by Dr. H. H. Larson of Columbia, Mo., took off from Texarkana for a flight to Columbia. Nothing has been heard from Larson since.

Col. Ken Catkins of CAP headquarters said six planes were taking part in the search. Authorities had a report yesterday that a light plane had been seen flying at a low altitude over the river bottoms Monday.

An area about 10 miles northeast of Springfield was searched yesterday following a report a report a plane might have gone down. But Watkins said nothing was found.

Geyer Springs, near Little Rock, was selected as site for the 1960 event.

Argentine Hopes Crisis Is Over
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Authorities were hopeful today that a military crisis plaguing President Arturo Frondizi for two months was ended with the appointment of Gaston Clement, a retired rear admiral and anti-Peronist, as navy secretary.

Clement, 56, a respected career officer, promised to work toward restoring discipline in the navy.

Navy commandos echoing army charges that Frondizi's government was riddled with followers of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron, forced the resignation of Vice Adm. Adolfo Estevez as navy secretary.

Traveling Elephant Heads for Home

L. E. PLANEY, France (AP) — Jumbo the traveling elephant headed slowly back home today, her handlers' attempts to recapture Hannibal's historic crossing of the Alps foiled by a landslide everybody overlooked.

British historian John Hoyle started climbing with Jumbo a week ago to prove that Hannibal could have taken the 7,300-foot high Clapier Pass in his elephant-assisted invasion of Italy in 219 B.C. Other historians believe the Carthaginian used lower passes near the Mediterranean.

After covering 72 miles and Hoyle discovered on arrival here Monday that the pass had been climbing from 726 feet to 7,156, blocked for some time by a slide. The historian said he hoped to find another route through which to maneuver Jumbo back to her home in the Tulin, Italy, zoo.

More than 750 million dollars worth of gold and silver was taken from the Comstock Lode at Virginia City, Nev., after its discovery in 1859.

Phillies Taking It Out on the League Leaders

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Philadelphia's failing Phillies suddenly are the flailing Phils, hip deep in the cellar and shilling the contenders in the National League pennant race.

They've won seven of their last eight games and 11 of their last 14, rolling up a 5-2 edge over San Francisco and Los Angeles in that two-week spurt.

Tuesday night they trimmed the Giants' hold on first place to a half-game with a 3-2 victory at San Francisco on an eighth-inning home run by Gene Freese and the four-hit pitching of Jim Owens.

The Dodgers reclaimed second place, whipping Pittsburgh 9-1 while the Milwaukee Braves, who had won five straight, slipped to third with a 5-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs. The Braves trail by 1½.

St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati in the other NL game.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox took a half-game lead by beating New York 4-3, dumping the Yankees to fifth.

Boston's last place Red Sox, warned to get a move on by owner Tom Yawkey, skinned Cleveland to second place by winning the second game of a two-night double-header 8-4 after losing the opener 5-2.

Kansas City made it nine in a row—longest streak in the majors this season—and took fourth place by beating Washington 6-1.

Detroit rapped Baltimore 8-3. Freese's 14th home run broke a 2-2 tie for the Phillies, and beat reliever Stu Miller (4-6), who had lost three in a row while the Giants have dropped six of their last nine games.

Sam Jones, the Giants' starter, gave up a run in the third on two walks and a two-out fly by Richie Ashburn that fell in front of a stumbling Willie Mays for an RBI double. Freese singled with two out and scored the second run in the fourth inning, forced home by three walks.

Both Giants scored on home runs, Willie Kirkland's 17th, in the fifth inning for the first time, and Orlando Cepeda's 20th, the only other hit off Owens (7-8) were infield single by Jim Davenport in the sixth and a single by Kirkland in the seventh.

Wally Moon drove in four runs for the Dodgers, hammering his eighth homer and two-run double and breaking a 4-0 tie with a sacrifice fly off losing reliever Ron Blackburn (1-1) in the fifth inning.

Stan Williams (4-3) was the winner with six innings of four-hit, shutout relief. The Pirates, who have lost seven in a row, built a 4-1 lead in two frames against Larry Sherry, scoring two unearned runs in the first and two more on starter Bennie Daniels' first home run in the second.

Right-hander Glen Hobbie, 6-0 against Milwaukee in his two-year career, beat the Braves a third time this season with the one-hit relief help of Bill Henry after the Cubs had cracked a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning.

Singles by Bobby Thomson and George Altman and Jim Marshall's double did it, the only hits allowed by loser Carl Willey (4-6) in his 3 2-3 innings of relief. Tony Taylor homered in a two-run first against Juan Pizarro for the Cubs, who have taken four straight from the Braves and eight of 13 for the season.

The Reds, shut out on four hits for six innings by Ernie Broglio, tied the Cards in a four-run sev-

Chicago Back on Top With Aid of Boston

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago White Sox still cuttin' it close and making the most of Al Smith's home runs, have the American League lead all to themselves again—with the help of a Boston shake-up that left Cleveland all shook up.

The last place Red Sox, warned by owner Tom Yawkey to get a move on or move out, whipped Cleveland 8-4 in the second game of a two-night double-header Tuesday night after losing the opener 5-2.

The loss dropped the Indians to second, a half-game behind the White Sox, who beat New York 4-3 and dumped the world champions into the second division.

It was the White Sox' 24th one-run victory of the season and their seventh while winning nine of their last 13 games. They got it on Smith's two-run homer in the eighth. It was Smith's 10th of the year and half of them have nailed one-run victories.

The Kansas City A's won their ninth in a row, longest streak in the majors this season, and replaced the Yankees in fourth place with a 6-1 breeze over Washington. The A's last just two weeks ago, now are within a half-game of third place Baltimore.

In the National League, Gene Freese's eighth-inning home run gave Philadelphia a 3-2 victory at San Francisco, cutting the Giants' lead to a half-game over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who reclaimed second place with a 9-4 romp over Pittsburgh.

Milwaukee slipped to third with a 5-4 defeat by the Chicago Cubs that ended the Braves' winning string at five. St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati.

The Red Sox, after losing six straight, now have taken two of three in a five-game series at Cleveland. They put the nightcap away on Frank Malzone's three-run homer in the fourth inning and Pete Runnels' fourth homer in the fifth. Bill Monbouquette (3-3) was the winner, giving up Billy Martin's solo homer in a three-run first inning and needing Mike Fornieles' mop-up in the ninth.

Jim Perry was the loser in relief. Malzone, at third, was the only man at his usual post in the Red Sox infield for the second game.

Rockie Jim Mahoney replaced Don

ent, then won it in the eighth on a single by Roy McMillan, who had been out six weeks with a broken hand. Marshall Bridges (4-2) was the loser with ex-Card

Jim Brosnan (4-5) the winner in relief.

Hope Defeats Crossett in Little Loop Play

Hope's Little League All-Stars never looked better in taking Crossett in the finals of the Area No. 4 Little League Tournament.

The locals blasted Crossett with a devastating 17 hit attack that featured eight extra base blows including Joe Morton's fifth inning home run that bounced in the road going over both fences. The final score was Hope 19 Crossett 0.

The game saw coaches Brint Odom and Wayne Johnson using every man on their team roster and no one seemed to know the difference when a substitute went in.

Hope scored five runs in the second, one in the third, seven in the fourth, five in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Jerry Burnett, pitching for Hope gave up only one hit and struck out eight.

The local All-Stars composed of Buddy Jordan, Paul Henley,

Buddin at short, and rookie Pumpie Green was at second. Runnels shifted to first, replacing Vic Wertz. Green, Boston's first Negro player, singled for his first major league hit ahead of Runnels' homer.

The Indians took the first game in a five-run fourth that beat Frank Sullivan (0-7). A two-run single by George Strickland gave them the lead and Jim Baxes' two-run homer capped it. Gary Bell (10-9) was the winner, although walking nine.

Smith's home run gave the White Sox and Billy Pierce a 4-1 lead, but the Yankees scored twice in the ninth on two singles, an error and Don Larsen's pinch-hit sacrifice fly. Pierce (12-11) singled and scored for a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a single by Nolie Fox, who had three hits. Ralph Terry (3-0) lost it.

Southpaw Don Mossi (0-4) beat the Orioles with a three-hitter, giving up his lone walk ahead of Willie Taskey's first-inning home run. Taskey also drove in the other run, with a sixth-inning sacrifice fly. The Tigers, tying it in the first on Neil Christley's homer, beat Hoyt Wilhelm (10-7) with four in the third on four walks and two singles.

The A's bagged their 12th victory in 13 games with four runs in the first against Camilo Pascual (11-8), who walked the bases full with two out, then gave up a single by Kent Hadley and a double by Harry Chitt. Johnny Kucks (5-6), won his second in a row by allowing only five hits—four by Jim Lemon, who hit his 23rd home run in the second inning.

cancer the past six months. He was a member of Garfield's football, baseball and basketball teams in his junior and senior years.

He was co-captain of the football team in 1957 and was quarterback on the All-City team.

Mr. Hunter was born in Hope, Ark. He came here from Texas in 1944. He was a member of the New Hope Baptist Church.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hunter; three brothers, Charles, Joe and James Hunter, and six sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Ross and Mrs. Margaret Bryant, and May, Barbara, Evelyn and Fay Hunter; also surviving is a cousin, Eddie Chambers of Hope, Ark.

(This story was written by Bob Schwarzmann, Sports Writer)

Ardes Hunter would not quit. Time after time, he climbed to the heights, establishing himself as one of Garfield High School's finest all-around athletes.

A merciless opponent attacked the courageous athlete last December, shortly before his 20th birthday. Impossibly overmatched, Ardes slowly yielded.

He died yesterday of cancer. A year ago, Ardes was graduated from Garfield. Less than a year ago last August he was the starting quarterback in the All-Star football game in the University of Washington Stadium. That was his final major-athletic contest as a competitor.

Ardes was a champion. He led Garfield to the 1957 City League football title as a quarterback, earning All-City honors for his performance. His teammates voted him an inspirational award. He was the shortest on the Bulldog team that won last spring's baseball crown.

In his junior year, Ardes received honorable mention on the All-State basketball team after speaking the underdog Garfield quintet in fifth place in the Class A tournament.

Sports fans best remember the 160-pounder for his action in the 1957 Thanksgiving Day football game against Clover Park.

Garfield held the favored Warriors in check, but a scoreless deadlock loomed. Then, with 1 minute, 8 seconds remaining in the game, Hunter passed into the end zone; Charlie Mitchell caught the ball, and Garfield had the 6-0 victory.

His coaches, John Boitano (football, baseball) and Bob Tate (basketball) used different words, but expressed the same thought while describing Ardes' value to a team.

"We were good friends," Boitano said. "Football is a 'blood and guts' game, so maybe you get a little closer to a player. Ardes was honest and square; he put out. He was a leader."

"Ardes was one of the best athletes we've had," Tate declared. "He was a tremendous athlete-coordination, strength, speed. He came through when we needed him."

Former teammates hope to make his name a part of a drive to establish the "Ardes Hunter Trophy," which will be presented each year to the school's best all-around athlete.

Compromise for Military Construction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate and House conferees agreed today on a compromise $1,225,475,000 military construction authorization bill for the year which started July 1.

The House had voted to authorize expenditures of $1,252,000,000 and the Senate had cut the total to $1,211,480,000. The administration had asked $1,356,290,000.

The decisions of the conferees are subject to ratification by the Senate and House.

The conferees agreed on a provision that the secretary of defense shall submit to the Senate and House Armed Services Committees before Jan. 31, 1960, complete and detailed information regarding the various types and kinds of aircraft, missiles, and naval vessels being procured, including the number and cost, and the number and kind proposed to be procured, and the cost of these.

Non-Communists Rap Political Group

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Non-Communist participants in the seventh World Youth Festival charged today the Reds are looking them out of numerous discussion seminars where the main political activity of the 10-day rally takes place.

The non-Communists, including about two-thirds of the 350 U.S. delegates, charged that the Communist festival organizers are deliberately keeping them out of the discussion meetings because they fear free debate on "Western democracy versus communism."

House Cuts Foreign Aid Request More

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House completes action today on a $3,186,530,000 foreign aid bill already tentatively approved with deep cuts under President Eisenhower's budget figures.

The formal vote sends the bill to the Senate, which may restore some of the nearly $1.2 billion dollars the House trimmed from Eisenhower's recommendations.

The President originally asked $3,930,000,000 for the current year's program. Last week he asked another 500 millions as an advance on next year's authorization, but the House Appropriations Committee rejected the request.

Traditionally, the Senate has dealt more generously with foreign aid than the House. But there have been indications that the Senate may pull the purse strings tighter this year than in the past.

The House approved the total recommended by its appropriations committee, although it adopted several amendments not affecting the figures.

Body Still Sought in Grand Canyon

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—National Park rangers today resumed a slow, painstaking search for a Georgia youth missing since Saturday in the Grand Canyon.

With no leads to guide them, searchers were losing all hope of finding Mason Owens, 16, of Savannah, alive.

The canyon took the lives of Owens' two companions—the Rev. Eugene A. Gavigan, 30, and Walter J. Mahany, Jr., 16, both of Savannah. The trio went into the canyon last Friday.

U. S. Plans to Repave Exhibition

MOSCOW (AP)—The harried director of the U.S. exhibition in Moscow made ready today to lay a coating of asphalt over 30,000 square feet of concrete floor being ground to powder by thousands of Russian boots.

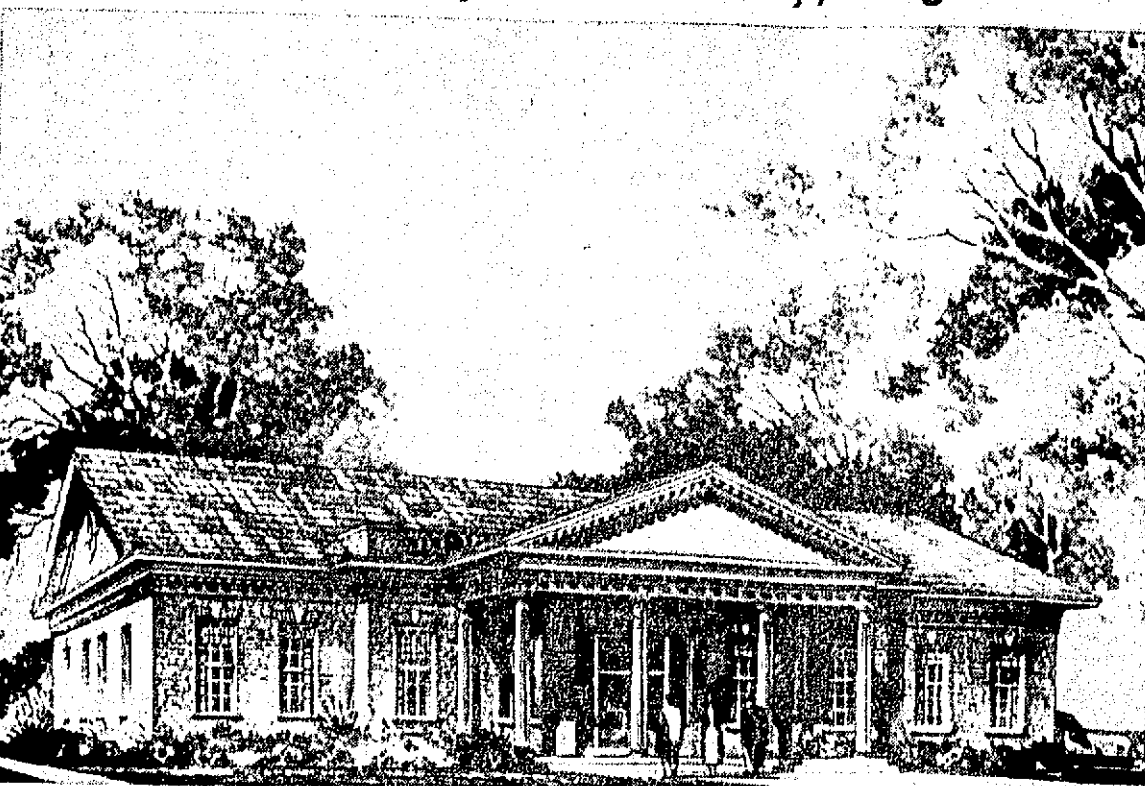

Harold C. McClellan, general director of the exhibit, said it might be a good idea if some U.S. firm agreed to ship in crew and material to install a durable flooring.

The dust storm is blamed on the poor quality of the concrete floor the Soviets laid.

The floor beneath the great gold dome became a dust bowl after an estimated 70,000 visitors trudged past the exhibits Sunday. Since then cleaning crews have been trying with only partial success to keep down the dust.

Mark Twain described cauliflower as "nothing but cabbage with a college education."

THE STORY: Grady Haskell, a deputy sheriff, arrives in "Reservation" on his search for a missing deputy. Already he has had a brush with the Hayfork ranch, and he finds people in the town regard him with suspicion, although he has not identified himself as an officer.

The jangle of a supper gong spreading its mellow resonance through the hotel and along the street, roused Haskell from his brief nap. He got to his feet, yawning and stretching.

Drifting up from below, coffee fragrance reached him, and immediately hunger was a raw, insistent need. He left his room and dropped down to the lobby, which was astir with activity. Several men were passing through on their way to the dining room. And, standing by the register counter, was Katherine Levening. She gave him a grave and guarded scrutiny, but made no sign of having seen him before.

He had, he thought, lost none of her clean, cool beauty. As before, she was bareheaded and her hair had a windblown look as though she'd been riding fast. Quelling an impulse to nod to her, Haskell held her glance steadily.

Here he recognized the same high, willful pride, but with it now was the shadow of uneasiness. As he passed her eyes fell away and she turned, putting her back to him.

The long central table in the dining room being already well filled, Haskell took one of the smaller ones along the wall.

Waiting on table was a girl of some 16 or 17, and the woman who had been sweeping the hotel porch when Haskell rode into town. Both continued to ignore him until the manner of it became too pointed to be other than deliberate design. Finally, when the girl happened to pass fairly close to him, he lifted a hand.

"I'm here," he drawled. "Alive and hungry. Or doesn't that matter?"

She was a sturdy youngster, somewhat sulky looking about the mouth, yet pretty enough in a dusky checked, carelessly rebellious sort of way. When Haskell spoke she hesitated, looking at him with dark, uncertain eyes.

Swiftly the older woman intervened.

"You tend the main table, Ruby," she ordered. Then, to Haskell, with some severity before moving away again. "You'll just have to wait your turn."

It didn't, he reflected, make sense.

The thought was like a flash of light, and he was swiftly on his feet and out of the room.

He went up the stairs with quick, soft steps.

On leaving his room he had closed but not locked the door. It was still closed, but from under it there now seeped a thin glow of yellow lamplight. Listening intently, he picked up the rustle of movement beyond. He tested the knob, pushed the door wide and stepped through.

Katherine Levening was tending over the bed. She had opened his saddlebags and started to go through them. Now, with a little gasp of alarm and dismay, she started to face him.

"Well, well," he drawled.

She was held with a complete stillness, like a startled frightened child might be not knowing whether to cower or run. Then the high pride began to turn, and her head came up and her shoulders stiffened. She met the level severity of his glance with a sort of defiance.

"Maybe," said Haskell, not unkindly, "there's a reasonable explanation. Though I can't imagine one what it could be. Certainly there's nothing in my saddlebags but the Levening brand of soap."

She made no answer.

He tried again. "You wouldn't mind if I said that Dallas, New York and Los Angeles were all-
